DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5, 10-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Byrne (US 5,941,720) and Byrne ((US 5,171,159) – multiple reference MPEP, 2131. 01.

With regard to claims 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, Byrne disclose (Fig. 1) a power strip comprising:

two or more spaced-apart socket sections (150) each having a set of terminal insertion holes for insertion of plug terminals of a power cable or the like, and a flexible cover section (142) of substantially tubular shape with corrugations that perpendicularly intersect the longitudinal direction of the cover section and substantially covers and interconnects the socket sections.

With regard to claims 10, 11, -12 Byrne (5,941,720) presents the geometrical relationships of claims 10, 11, -12, since sets of sockets can be disposed along imaginary line (Fig. 1) and along the line being perpendicular to the imaginary line (Fig. 8). Also, Byrne (US 5, 171,159) disclose (col. 5, lines31-33).

Claims 1-6, 8, 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Boundy. With regard to claims 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 Boundy (US 4,278, 834) disclose (Fig. 9-11) a power strip comprising:

two or more spaced-apart socket sections (126) each having a set of terminal insertion

Art Unit: 2833

holes for insertion of plug terminals of a power cable or the like, and a flexible cover section (131) of substantially tubular shape with corrugations that perpendicularly intersect the longitudinal direction of the cover section and substantially covers and interconnects the socket sections.

With regard to claims 6,8, Boundy discloses (Fig. 9-11) that the bumps and dips have an undulation shape that fits into the corrugations of the cover Section or joint section.

With regard to claim 13 Boundy discloses that the joint section or cover section is integrally connected and fastened to the socket section (col. 4, lines 61-63).

Claims 10-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Japanese Document 09—63723.

Document 09—63723 (Fig. 1) presents the geometrical relationships of claims 10-12, since sets of sockets 4 and 5 being disposed on lines mutually perpendicular.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 6, 7,9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Byrne in view of Dearman.

Byrne does not explicitly disclose structural features of socket section attachment to the cover section or joint section.

Art Unit: 2833

Dearman (US 4,615,574) discloses (Fig. 1-4) bumps and dips (29) on peripheral surface of the socket section and the end of cover section being formed without corrugations..

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to fix the cover section to the socket using Dearman's features , as taught by Dearman, to make the connection reenterable and hence convenient for maintenance.
